Royal speech on Islamic New Calendar

HM: Change for the betterment

KIARONG, January 9 - A call to change for the betterment was made by His Majesty The Sultan and Yang Di-Pertuan of Brunei Darussalam His Majesty The Sultan and Yang Di-Pertuan of Brunei Darussalam.

The call was made by His Majesty at a ceremony to mark the Islamic new calendar – 1429 Hijrah.

The sovereign said, regardless of the size of the change, it is the change itself that matters. A change or development starts from realisation as without it, there can be no change.

"This is the role of realisation and it must always be stimulated. The realisation does not come spontaneously even if it is stimulated unless there is an exceptional reason that drives us to change," said the monarch.

His Majesty also urged government agencies to tackle the important issue that can make or lead to changes.

There are many issues that need to be tackled, among others must be handled immediately such as flash floods or areas that are prone to flooding, said His Majesty. His Majesty said there is a suggestion that this was also caused by the drainage system that has not been given attention, like those that were blocked by vegetation which caused the water to stop from flowing.

"If this is true, is it not important to look into it and make changes?" asked His Majesty.

His Majesty also said that the flood could also be due to development factors such as those projects that are not closely supervised by regulations and acts where its risk could affect the drainage and environment. However, the situation is not as trivial as it looked like as it deals closely with the law, management, etiquettes and discipline. Hence, His Majesty called to take necessary actions to handle the problem.

Selirong Island Recreational Park is Brunei's largest mangrove island with 2,566 hectares in size. Located in the outer southeast of Brunei Bay, the island is home to many amazing flora and fauna. The island can be only reached by water and journey from the capital takes around 45-minute to one-hour.

Realising that Selirong Island is a host to varieties of wildlife and natural treasure including the world's finest mangrove species, the Ministry of Industry and Primary Resources through Forestry Department have taken various initiatives to conserve the island.

Beginning 1995, Selirong Island has been upgraded into a recreational park from its original status as forest reserve. Among the improvement made were the building of bridges and walk-path. Other facilities provided are huts and restrooms.

Even though development has been imposed into the island, the naturalness of this 1,000 years old island is still sustained. The existence of extinct species can still be found here.

Strolling through the bridge or walk-path, visitors can enjoy fresh air and the relaxing green scenery. Furthermore you can also see some of the residing wildlife species that belong to the island.

From the survey made, the island is expected to house more than 40 bird species, 10 mammal species, eight reptile species, 10 insect species and some unknown number of fish species.

Wawasan Brunei 2035

Through the National Vision or known as Wawasan Brunei 2035, it aims to make Brunei Darussalam, by 2035, as a nation which will be widely recognised for the accomplishments of its educated and highly skilled people as measured by the highest international standards; quality of life that is among the top 10 nations in the world; and a dynamic and sustainable economy with income per capita within the top 10 countries in the world.

To elaborate further on the three main areas:-

i. An educated, highly skilled and accomplished people

Seek to build a first class education system that provides opportunities for every citizen and resident to meet the requirements of the changing economy and encourages life-long learning as well as achievements in sport and the arts.

ii. Quality of life

iii. Dynamic and sustainable economy

Seek to build an economy that provides the people with quality employment in both public and private sectors and also offers great economic opportunities.

To achieve these, there is a need to develop and implement an integrated and well-coordinated national strategy comprising of eight elements.

The eight elements are;

i. An education strategy that will prepare the youth for employment and achievement in a world that is increasingly competitive and knowledge-based.

ii. An economic strategy that will create new employment for the people and expand business opportunities within Brunei Darussalam through promotion of investment, foreign and domestic, both in downstream industries as well as economic clusters beyond oil and gas industry.

iii. A security strategy that will safeguard the country's political stability and sovereignty as a nation and that links our defense and diplomatic capabilities and our capacity to respond to threats from disease and natural catastrophe.

and maintaining world-class infrastructure with special emphasis placed on education, health and industry.

- vii. A social security strategy that ensures that as the nation prospers, all citizens are properly cared for.
- viii. An environmental strategy that ensure the proper conservation of our natural environment and cultural habitat..

Outline of Strategies and Policies for Development (OSPD) 2007-2017

The first Outline of Strategies and Policies for Development (OSPD) 2007 -2017 elaborates on the eight strategies underlined in the National Vision through 50 policy directions. It will be used as a guide for policy makers and implementers to prepare development programmes and projects for a period of 10 years towards accomplishing the Wawasan Brunei 2035 goals.

National Development Plan (RKN) 2007-2012

The launching of the latest RKN marks a strategic shift in the planning and implementation of development projects. It is also the first RKN to be formulated based on the objectives of the Wawasan Brunei 2035. Plans are structured in a continuity manner to support and attain long term socio-economic development of the country.

The key challenges in RKN 2007-2012 will be to enhance national capacity to carry out development initiatives and strengthen competitiveness. High priority will be given on the development of human resources, science, technology and innovation (STI) promoted industries, economic resilience, and high quality of life of the people. The development will be pursued alongside efforts to preserve positive cultural values and the quality of the environment

A total of $9.5 billion have been allocated for RKN 2007-2012, where growth target is expected to be achieved partially through the various programmes and projects planned under the latest RKN. This investment is expected to create a multiplier effect in the form of private sector spending.

An economic diversification programme will still be pursued during RKN 2007-2012. This includes further development in downstream oil and gas activities. The projected high oil price will be expected to contribute positively to the economy especially in terms of government revenue and export. In the non-oil and gas sector, the promoted industries will also be pursued.

The Government of His Majesty The Sultan and Yang Di-Pertuan of Brunei Darussalam continues to provide excellent education at minimal cost; and further supported with the enforcement of Compulsory Education Order 2007, as it ensures that the children of this nation receive formal education within an appropriate period in schools. To this day, Brunei Darussalam has one of the highest literacy rate in this region.

Both the public and private sectors have given strong support in enhancing business opportunities for the small- and medium-enterprises (SMEs).

DOMBAK

Brunei Darussalam is a country that is rich with cultural heritage. Among the cultural heritage, besides arts and handicraft are traditional dance and music. One traditional instrument still used today is dombak or some prefer to call it as tambur.

The body of Dombak is made from hard woods which originally had a hole; like the core of two local fruits tree, tibadak (Jackfruit) and tarap (Artocarpus Odoratissimus). The hard woods are chosen to produce the instrument as it does not easily break when fallen or crashed. Meanwhile the top is made from deer skin.

This musical instrument is usually played during bamukun - an entertainment held during weddings or gatherings (common for people in Brunei and Sarawak). Bamukun is an occasion where a group of men and women exchange pantun (quatrains). During bamukun, the men will berjoget (one type of traditional dances) and the women will play the dombak.
