HM officiates 39th SEAMEO Council Conference

Security is a concern for Southeast Asia Ministers of Education Organisation (SEAMEO).

This was highlighted by His Majesty Sultan Haji Hassanal Bolkiah Mu'izzaddin Waddaulah, the Sultan and Yang Di-Pertuan of Brunei Darussalam at the opening of the 39th SEAMEO Council Conference on March 1 at the Empire Hotel and Country Club in Jerudong.

According to His Majesty, security does not only pertain to violent acts but also security of employment, good health, decent family and community life.

"The security of being able to plan one's future in peace, stability and confidence, in keeping with one's own beliefs, values and principles," said His Majesty.

His Majesty said that the world, in many ways, has changed for the better. However, as has been noted in every ASEAN Leader's meeting, the world is also profoundly insecure. This is the concern for those who are working in the education system. Therefore, we should work closely to address the concern.

The sovereign also said that with the new globalised world community a culture based on understanding, inclusiveness and tolerance should be acquired. It must involve a deep appreciation of all other cultures, backgrounds and societies of which it is composed. His Majesty added that for a long-term security, the 21st century must discover such culture.

His Majesty said that voyaging in the global community is a new experience.

"We are all migrants. But, just like anyone moving to a new land, we have to learn its language. We have to acquire the skills it demands. We must adapt to its principles. And, at the same time, we must find a lasting place for our own spiritual values and heritage," said the sovereign.

This is where learning process is at its utmost importance. Once completed, it must enable us to leave in peace and understanding with ourselves and with our new neighbours. This process, according to the sovereign, is the very core of education.

Brunei-Singapore on a high note

Brunei Darussalam and the Republic of Singapore share similar interest in ensuring regional peace and security.

His Majesty The Sultan and Yang Di-Pertuan of Brunei Darussalam said at the royal banquet hosted for the President of Republic of Singapore, His Excellency S. R Nathan and Mrs S. R Nathan on March 16 at the Istana Nurul Iman.

The interest towards regional peace and security, according to the sovereign, requires us to direct our efforts towards two objectives; to ensure the future for our own individual citizens.

However, it requires more than just merely accepting changes passively. With physical size as a limitation for both nations, our people should do more than just cope with modern changes.

The sovereign disclosed that citizens should master and benefit from these changes. His Majesty added that he believes it is "...the only path that leads to stability and the personal security it can offer our people in the deepest sense of the word.

"The rest of the world will not help us to develop unless we offer it a reason to be involved with us and to invest in our future. That is the challenge we face economically and technologically," said His Majesty.

With these challenges, this is the reason Brunei appreciates the opportunities provided by Singapore. Through the relation, Brunei has gained knowledge, increase expertise and share experiences in many walks of life today.

The second objective His Majesty mentioned goes beyond the two nations. "We have developed great respect for each other and we hold regular consultations at all levels of public and private life," said His Majesty.

These form part of a network of similar relations Brunei has with her partners in ASEAN. Cooperation is the heart of ASEAN and vital arteries for relations between members.

"They contain the association's life blood. Its programmes, its projects and its ultimate objectives flow through them. So, ultimately, they ensure that ASEAN's heart is strong. I therefore judge the relations between Brunei Darussalam and Singapore in that light," said His Majesty.

HM: Enhance ties for economic prospects

His Majesty The Sultan and Yang Di-Pertuan of Brunei Darussalam called for enhanced cooperation between Brunei and Ukraine, especially in the economic field.

His Majesty delivered the address at the dinner banquet hosted for the three-day state visit of His Excellency Leonid Kuchma, Ukraine President and First Lady Lyudmyla Kuchma at the Istana Nurul Iman to Brunei on March 7.

“I would also like to encourage our officials and our business communities to take every opportunity to make our relations not only friendly and cooperative but, wherever possible, substantial,” said His Majesty.

The sovereign said that Brunei and Ukraine, in its bid for economic development and diversification, share a similar national plan. With similarities on hand, the monarch said it would be of “...great interest to us to share thoughts and exchange views on the progress of these vital national endeavours.”

Diplomatic relations between Brunei and Ukraine was established on October 7, 1997.

(SEAMEO Council Conference)*

His Majesty said education starts from the day a person enters the education system. What happened between the moment the person enters kindergarten and the great ceremonies of handing out degrees, diplomas and awards lies largely on the hands of the Ministers.

“How then, can education play its vital role in ensuring that our future societies are ones that will flourish in the present century?

“That I see as your most important work today. Our children receive an ever-increasing amount of technological, scientific and electronic information. But will your decisions also help them acquire tolerance and respect for others?

“History has taught the dangers of leaving this duty entirely to accident or to those who may have a very different agenda than your own,” said His Majesty.

His Majesty said that accepting it as one of education’s main responsibilities is the region’s greatest educational challenge.

SEAMEO Council Conference is a regional conference where perspectives of education are shared and discussed. More than 120 participants including education ministers and officials from ten SEAMEO countries and representatives from SEAMEO Associate attended the four-day conference.
